Binche Whut'en

September 6, 2024

Job Opportunity: Community Health Nurse

Nancy Tom Health Centre (Binche Whut'en) is located 27 km northwest of Fort St. James. We offer unique experiences, strong community connections, a focus on professional development, and the opportunity to enjoy the natural wonders of northern BC.

Role and Responsibilities

The Community Health Nurse (CHN) provides essential health services aimed at disease prevention, health promotion, and the overall well-being of individuals, families, and the community.

As a CHN, you will initiate primary care treatment, manage health care, and provide therapeutic interventions in line with nursing standards, regulatory requirements, and employer policies.

Key responsibilities include:

Collaborating with patients, clients, and other health professionals to assess trends and develop strategies to enhance community health.

Delivering care according to established standards, guidelines, and the directives of the Health Manager. Performing nursing duties such as delegated medical functions, crisis intervention, emergency care (including arranging for evacuation), point-of-care testing, specimen collection (e.g., venipuncture), and referrals.

Assessing, planning, implementing, documenting, and evaluating individualized care for patients and families.

Processing and executing physician or Nurse Practitioner orders.

Providing care instructions and relevant information to staff.

Using evidence-based practices to guide health promotion, prevention, and care services for individuals, families, and communities.

Qualifications:

Baccalaureate Degree in Nursing and/or Registered Nurse certification.

Current practicing registration with the BC College of Nurses and Midwives.

Basic Life Support, Level "C" certification.

Relevant experience in clinical or cross-cultural health promotion settings.

Transportation of Dangerous Goods (TDG) certification.
